

International Entrepreneurship

◀ 0 M

Theoretical Foundations and Practices

I*

X

Antonella Zucchella

and

Paolo Scabini

it!

- HOCHSCHULE
- LIECHTENSTEIN

Bibliothek

palgrave
macmillan

nofir,jn*mo !iinui..i->iq*rtm3 dJ
 't» fioftutinino'r'jtft d.f.
 il OJ ?toJ»om tint

List of Figures	vii
List of Tables	viii
Acknowledgements	ix
Foreword	x
Introduction	1
1 Theoretical Foundations of International Entrepreneurship	5
1.1 Definitions of International Entrepreneurship	6
1.2 Factors affecting International Entrepreneurship	9
1.3 Research gap	18
1.4 Foundations of International Entrepreneurship: from personal to organizational, from static to dynamic variables	21
1.5 A comparison among different theoretical frameworks	25
2 International Business Studies	28
2.1 Economic decision-based approaches to internationalization	30
2.2 Behavioural and evolutionary approaches to internationalization	39
2.3 The contribution of international business theories and models to International Entrepreneurship	52
3 Entrepreneurship Studies	56
3.1 Entrepreneurship in classical and neoclassical economic literature	58
3.2 The entrepreneur according to the Austrian school	60
3.3 Uncertainty and creativity	66
3.4 Entrepreneurship and entrepreneurs	67

3.5	Entrepreneurial orientation in organizations	74
3.6	The contribution of entrepreneurship theories and models to International Entrepreneurship	76
4	Strategic Management Studies	80
4.1	The resource-based view	81 »
4.2	Dynamic capabilities	86
u. v	4.3 Networking approaches: a link between strategic management, international business and organizational studies	89
'	4.4 Networking in local clusters and entrepreneurship	94
.	4.5 The contribution of strategic management studies to International Entrepreneurship	96
5	A Theoretical Model for International Entrepreneurship	99
1	5.1 International Entrepreneurship: the firm's capabilities and learning processes	103
'''	5.2 Typologies of International Entrepreneurial organizations	107
	5.3 Alternative models of International Entrepreneurship	121
	5.4 A resources and capabilities-based model	124
<	5.5 International opportunity scanning and evaluation	126
	5.6 International resource mobilization	127
	5.7 Dynamic capabilities	128
	5.8 International performance	134
6	Empirical Analysis	137
	6.1 Research questions and methodology	137
	6.2 General information	143
	6.3 Case study 1: Barcera SRL	143
	6.4 Case study 2: Fresenius Medical Care Italy	152
	6.5 Case study 3: RC Group SpA	159
	Conclusion	170
	References (1 M nahftuA srfJ •	175