

Rudolf Grunig . Richard Kiihn

Process-based Strategic Planning

::^
;;

Translated from German by Anthony Clark

2vm

MCl16[ri

Fifth Edition

->^ (ri

• HOCHSCHULE
" LIECHTENSTEIN
Bibliothek

4y Springer"

Contents

^

Preface.....	v
Brief contents.....	ix
Contents.....	xi
List of figures.....	xix
List of insets.....	xxv

Introduction.

Part I: Idea of strategic planning.....	5
1 Strategies, strategic planning and success potentials.....	7
1.1 Strategies.....	7
1.2 Strategic planning.....	8
1.3 Building success potentials as main purpose of strategic planning.....	<v ~.B
2 Development of strategic planning.....	13
2.1 Four phases in the development of strategic planning.....	13
2.2 Role of strategic planning within strategic management.....	16
3 Assessment of strategies.....	21
3.1 Basic reflections on the assessment of strategies.....	21
3.2 Model for the assessment of strategies.....	22
.....	1f-
Part II: Process of strategic planning and resulting documents.....	29
4 Strategic documents as the result of strategic planning.....	31
4.1 Basic types of strategic document.....	31
4.2 Combinations of strategic documents for specific companies.....	35
5 Process of strategic planning.....	45
5.1 Need for a systematic process of strategic planning.....	45
5.2 Overview of the process of strategic planning.....	46
5.3 Brief note on the steps of the process.....	50
5.4 Strategic planning process of an electricity provider.....	54
5.5 Adapting the process of strategic planning.....	60
6 Strategic analysis and planning toolbox.....	65
6.1 Important tools of strategic analysis and planning.....	65

6.2	Allocating the tools to three fields of analysis and to the steps in the planning process.....	67
Part III: Project planning, analysis and mission statement
	revision.....	73
IX
7	Strategy project planning.....	75
7.1	Why strategic planning should be seen as a project.....	75
7.2	Sub-tasks of strategy project planning.....	76
7.2.1	Overview.....	76
7.2.2	Determining the scope.....	76
7.2.3	Determining the objectives and boundary conditions.....	77
7.2.4	Deciding whether to hire a consultant.....	79
7.2.5	Fixing the project organization.....	60
7.2.6	Fixing the process and the milestones.....	82
7.2.7	Budgeting the cost.....	83
8	Strategic analysis.....	87
8.1	Need for analysis before strategies are developed.....	87
8.2	Content and conclusions of analysis .....	88
8.3	Description of the applied methods.....	91
8.3.1	Choice of the methods applied in analysis.....	91
8.3.2	Global environmental analysis.....	92
8.3.3	Description of the market system.....	93
8.3.4	Identification of success factors.....	94
8.3.5	Analysis of strengths and weaknesses.....	98
8.3.6	Stakeholder value analysis.....	102
8.4	Process of strategic analysis.....	104
8.4.1	Overview.....	104
8.4.2	Determining the preconditions for analysts.....	105
8.4.3	Carrying out the analysis.....	108
9	Revision or production of the mission statement.....	111
9.1	Nature, effects and contents of mission statements.....	111
9.2	Process of revising or producing the mission statement.....	114
9.2.1	Overview .....	114
9.2.2	Steps in revising or producing the mission statement.....	115

Part IV: Developing the corporate strategy.....	119
10 Defining the strategic businesses.....	123
10.1 Strategic business as a three dimensional construct.....	123
10.2 Two types of strategic business.....	125
10.3 Constellations of strategic business fields and strategic business units.....	130
10.4 Defining strategic businesses.....	132
11 Assessing relevant industries with the help of competitive intensity models.....	141
11.1 Basic reflections on the assessment of competitive intensity.....	141
11.2 Analyzing industry structure with the Five Forces model.....	143
•S..... 11.2.1 Basic concept.....	143
11.2.2 Areas of application.....	145
11.2.3 Procedure.....	146
11.3 Analyzing structures within industries with the A..... Strategic Groups model.....	154
11.3.1 Basic concept.....	154
11.3.2 Areas of application.....	155
11.3.3 Procedure.....	156
12 Setting up and assessing the portfolio of businesses.....	161
12.1 Basis of portfolio methods.....	161
12.2 Market growth -market share portfolio.....	164
12.2.1 Portfolio matrix.....	164
12.2.2 Norm strategies.....	167
12.2.3 Recommendations for the portfolio as a whole.....	169
12.3 Industry attractiveness - competitive strength portfolio.....	171
12.3.1 Portfolio matrix.....	171
12.3.2 Norm strategies and recommendations for the portfolio as a whole.....	177
12.4 Portfolio analysis and planning process.....	178
12.4.1 Overview of the process.....	178
12.4.2 Preliminary methodological decisions.....	179
12.4.3 Description of the current portfolio.....	180
12.4.4 Predicting changes in real market growth or industry attractiveness.....	181
12.4.5 Assessment of the current portfolio.....	181

vi • ' t^	12.4.6 Planning the target portfolio and the target market positions.....	181
	12.4.7 Portfolio analysis and planning in a retail group.....	182
13	Corporate strategy development process.....	189
	13.1 Overview.....	189
	13.2 Defining the strategic businesses.....	190
	13.3 Describing the current corporate strategy and forecasting developments relevant to its assessment.....	192
tkt....	13.4 Assessing the current strategy.....	198
, _.	13.5 Developing and assessing options for future corporate strategy.....	200
CM. . . .	13.5.1 Developing options.....	200
""""	13.5.2 Formulating the general intention.....	202
	13.5.3 Determining the future businesses and their targets.....	203
	13.5.4 Determining the way to construct, develop or divest businesses.....	207
Mi	13.5.5 Assessing the options and formulating the provisional corporate strategy.....	212
	Part V: Developing the business strategies.....	213
14	Generic business strategies.....	217
	14.1 Basic reflections on the generic business strategies.....	217
^a	14.2 Overview of the generic business strategies.....	217
	14.3 Broad scope price strategy.....	221
	14.4 Broad scope differentiation strategy.....	223
	14.5 Niche focus strategies.....	224
«-'	14.5.1 A niche as a specific form of industry segment.....	224
	14.5.2 Identification and assessment of niches with the help of industry segment analysis.....	226
	14.5.3 Requirements for niches.....	228
	14.6 Success conditions and risks of the generic business strategies.....	231
	14.6.1 Success conditions of the generic business strategies.....	231
! . . . .	14.6.2 Risks of the generic business strategies.....	234
	14.7 Transitional strategies and strategy alternation.....	236

	14.7.1 Basic reflections on transitional strategies and strategy alternation.....	236
	14.7.2 Transitional strategies.....	237
	14.7.3 Strategy alternation.....	240
15	Specifying business strategies at the level of the offer.....	243
	15.1 Basic reflections on specifying business strategies at the level of the offer.....	243
	15.2 Specifying the offer for a price strategy.....	243
	15.2.1 Three areas of specification.....	243
	15.2.2 Specifying the products and services.....	244
•^	15.2.3 Specifying the mix of products and services.....	245
	15.2.4 Specifying the pricing.....	247
	15.3 Specifying the offer for a* differentiation strategy.....	248
	15.3.1 Importance of a clear view of the served industry segments and of the main competitors.....	248
„S, . . .	15.3.2 Strategic positioning of the offer.....	249
	15.3.3 Ideas for the strategic positioning of the offer.....	251
	15.4 Identification of success factors and analysis of strengths and weaknesses as basis for specifying the offer.....	258
16	Specifying business strategies at the level of resources.....	263
	16.1 Basic reflections on specifying business strategies at the level of resources.....	263
	16.2 Understanding resources.....	264
	16.3 Valuable resources.....	265
	16.4 Determining which resources to build or maintain.....	269
	16.4.1 Overview.....	269
x	16.4.2 Identifying the resources creating customer value.....	270
„^	16.4.3 Determining which of the resources creating customer value are rare.....	276
	16.4.4 Assessing sustainability of the resources creating customer value and found to be rare.....	277
17	Business strategy development process.....	279
	17.1 Overview.....	279
	17.2 Describing and assessing the current business strategy.....	281

17.3	Determining and assessing options for the future generic business strategy and the target industry segments.....	282
17.4	Determining the future competitive advantages.....	283
17.4.1	Network of success potentials as an approach to developing the future competitive advantages.....	283
17.4.2	Basic possibilities for competitive advantages.....	290
17.4.3	Criteria for assessing the future competitive advantages.....	291
17.5	Developing the business strategy of a watch manufacturer.....»*.»»«	293
Part VI: Implementing, assessing and approving the strategies.....		299
18	Defining the implementation.....	301
18.1	Basic reflections on implementing strategies.....	301
18.2	Types of strategic program.....	303
18.3	Process of defining the implementation.....	310
18.3.1	Overview.....	310
18.3.2	Steps in defining the implementation.....	311
19	Final assessment of strategies and implementation.....	315
19.1	Need for a final assessment.....	315
19.2	Assessment criteria.....	315
19.2.1	Overview.....	315
19.2.2	Assessment of the overall value of strategies.....	315
19.2.3	Assessment with the remaining sets of criteria.....	321
19.3	Process of final assessment of strategies and implementation.....	326
19.3.1	Overview.....	326
19.3.2	Steps of final assessment of strategies and implementation.....	326
20	Formulating and approving the strategic documents.....	333
20.1	Basic reflections on strategic documents.....	333
20.2	Process of formulating and approving the strategic documents.....	333
20.2.1	Overview.....	333

20.2.2 Steps in formulating and approving the strategic documents.....	333
Final remarks.....	339
Glossary.....	341
Index.....	351
Bibliography.....	357

4.2:

".Ofli-

•T" str j r r j * 3 OT in*-