

Mediating Modernism

Architectural cultures in Britain

Andrew Higgott

HOCHSCHULE
• LIECHTENSTEIN
Bibliothek

Routledge

Taylor & Francis Group

LONDON AND NEW YORK

Contents

	Illustration credits	vi
	Acknowledgements	vii
	Introduction	1
1	Making it new: the discourses of architecture and modernism in Britain	3
2	The mission of modernism: James Richards and the Architectural Review	33
3	The forgetting of art: the Abercrombie Plan for post-war London	57
4	The shift to the specific: the new interpretation of materiality in Brutalism and the Functional Tradition	85
5	The opposite of architecture: Archigram and Architectural Design in the 1960s	117
6	Searching for the subject: Alvin Boyarsky and the Architectural Association School	153
7	Architecture as discourse: rethinking the culture of architecture	189
	Select bibliography	205
	Index	212