

Values-Centered Entrepreneurs and Their Companies

David Y. Choi and Edmund R. Gray

HOCHSCHULE
LIECHTENSTEIN
Bibliothek

Routledge

Taylor & Francis Group

NEW YORK AND LONDON

Contents

List of Figures and Tables	ix
Preface and Acknowledgements	xi
Part 1: Toward a New Breed of Entrepreneurs	1
1. Introduction	3
2. The Values-Centered Entrepreneur	9
Part 2: The Lessons/Cuidelines	21
3. Commit to a (Meaningful) Purpose	23
4. Raise Capital with Mission in Mind: Be Strategic, Resilient, and Cautious	35
5. Hire Talented Employees with Shared Values	48
6. Promote Your Company's Values	58
7. Build a Cohesive, Dedicated Organization	67
8. Maximize Profits . . . With Some Exceptions	78
9. Minimize Your Environmental and Social Footprint	94
10. Stay With It for the Long Haul	107
11. Make Giving a Priority	117
12. Be a Role Model for Others	128
13. Concluding Thoughts	137

Part 3: Case Studies	143
Case Study 1: Gottlieb Duttweiler and Migros	145
Case Study 2: Stonyfield Farm	149
Case Study 3: King Cycle Group	159
Case Study 4: T.S. Designs, Inc.	168
Notes	176
Index	188