

Information, Interaction and (In)Efficiency in Financial Markets

Festschrift on the Occasion of Klaus Schredelseker's 65th Birthday

edited by

Michael Hanke
Jürgen Huber

Linde

Table of Contents

bud ^l

Preface	v
Michael Hanke (University of Innsbruck) and Jürgen Huber (University of Vienna and University of Innsbruck)
The Efficiency of Stock Markets and the Case for Passive Investment Management	1
Burton G. Malkiel (Princeton University)
Traders' Incentives to Process Information and Market Efficiency	11
Florian Hauser (University of Innsbruck)
What Have We Learned from Experimental Finance?	25
Shyam Sunder (Yale School of Management)
A Note on Schredelseker's Model: Private Information and Inference about Inference	37
Sobei H. Oda and Gen Masumoto (Kyoto Sangyo University)
When more information can be harmful: Evidence from experimental asset markets	62
Jürgen Huber and Michael Kirchler (University of Innsbruck)
The value of information in financial markets: An agent-based simulation	95
Bence Tóth (ISI Foundation and Budapest Univ. of Technology and Economics) and Enrico Scalas (East Piemont University, Alessandria)
Understanding non-monotonic payoffs for heterogeneously informed agents	115
Jochen Lawrenz (University of Innsbruck)
The value of information. Some clarifications and some new results for the Schredelseker-Game	135
Richard Hule and Jochen Lawrenz (University of Innsbruck)
Asset Pricing, Trading Costs, and the Cross-section of Stock Returns	156
Matthias Bank (University of Innsbruck)
Why black swans exist	170
Klaus Spremann (University of St. Gallen)
The Edgeworth, Cournot and Walrasian Cores of an Economy	182
Martin Shubik (Yale School of Management)

Financial Systems – Importance, Differences and Convergence	192
Reinhard H. Schmidt and Aneta Hryckiewicz (University of Frankfurt)
The Blind Men and the Hierarchically Controlled Enterprise	221
Walter S.A. Schwaiger (Vienna University of Technology)
Appendix: International Economic & Business Studies (Internationale Wirtschaftswissenschaften – IWW)	249
Elke Kitzelmann (University of Innsbruck)	