

The Sociology of Work

4th edition

Keith Grint and Darren Nixon

polity

Contents

Figures	..	viii
Tables		ix
Introduction		1
1 What is Work?		6
Introduction		6
Problems of definition		7
Working beyond the contemporary West		10
Historical rhetorics of work: views from above and below		12
Radical approaches to work		17
Contemporary Western orientations to work		21
Domestic labour		26
Unemployment		33
Conclusions		37
Useful resources and seminar discussion questions		38
2 Work in Historical Perspective		40
Introduction		40
Pre-industrial work		41
The transition from feudalism to proto-industrialization		44
Factories and technological change		47
Occupational change		50
Work, the family and gender		55
The rise of trade unionism		59
State intervention and the Factory Acts		63
The state and the development of clerical labour		67
Women, work and war		68
Conclusions		71
Useful resources and seminar discussion questions		72
3 Classical Approaches to Work: Marx, Durkheim and Weber		73
Introduction	;	73
Marx and capitalism	*	74
Durkheim and industrial society'	\	81
Weber		84
Conclusions		90
Useful resources and seminar discussion questions		90

4 Contemporary Theories of Work Organization	92
Introduction	92
Coercion	96
Paternalism	97
Lenin	99
Human relations	100
Neo-human relations	103
Organizational cultures	106
Critical theories	108
Systems theories	110
Contingency theory	112
Action theory	113
Population ecology theory	115
Evolutionary biology	115
Rational choice theory	116
Complexity theories	117
Political, organizational theories	120
Foucault and postmodernism	121
Actor networks	124
Institutional theory	126
Conclusions	127
Useful resources and seminar discussion questions	127
5 Class, Industrial Conflict and the Labour Process	128
Introduction	128
Theoretical approaches to class	128
Class, trade unions and revolution	130
British trade unions and labourism	132
Class and industrial action	135
Accounting for industrial action	142
Marx, Taylorism and the capitalist labour process	150
Braverman and the labour process	153
Conclusions	159
Useful resources and seminar discussion questions	160
6 Gender, Patriarchy and Trade Unions	162
Introduction	162
Theoretical viewpoints on women and work	163
Women and paid labour: the contemporary evidence	172
Labour market restructuring and professional women	179
Women and trade unions	193
Masculinity, domestic labour and violence	198
Conclusions	202
Useful resources and seminar discussion questions	203

7 Race, Ethnicity and Labour Markets: Recruitment and the Politics of Exclusion	204
Introduction	204
Race, racism and ethnicity	204
Labour markets and racism	210
Recruitment and racism	231
Trade unions, workers and racial discrimination	236
Conclusions	242
Useful resources and seminar discussion questions	243
8 Working Technology	244
Introduction	244
Technological determinism	245
Social determinism	250
Flexible specialization, Fordism, neo-Fordism and post-Fordism	259
Conclusions	270
Useful resources and seminar discussion questions	271
9 Contemporary Work: The Service Sector and the Knowledge Economy	272
Introduction	272
The rise of the post-industrial knowledge economy	273
The informational economy	276
The growth and shape of Britain's service economy	279
Skills, gender and low-level service work	286
Conclusions – a polarizing workforce?	293
Useful resources and seminar discussion questions	296
10 The Meaning of Work in the Contemporary Economy	297
Introduction	297
The declining significance of work	300
Work, identity, culture, economy	309
Work-life balance and the invasiveness of work	317
Conclusions	322
Useful resources and seminar discussion questions	324
11 Work in the Global Economy	325
Introduction	325
The contemporary global economy	328
Global financial meltdown and the Eurozone sovereign-debt crisis	335
Globalization, flexibility and the quality of work	340
Conclusions	355
Useful resources and seminar discussion questions	356
	*
Glossary	357
Bibliography	362
Index	407