

PROFESSIONAL ETHICS
AND
CIVIC MORALS

ÉMILE DURKHEIM

Translated by
Cornelia Brookfield

QUID PRO BOOKS
New Orleans, Louisiana

CONTENTS

Page numbers in brackets reference the original pagination used in the printed book, as well as in current printed republications. These numbers are inserted into the text in this edition by the use of brackets. See Notes of the Series Editor (on page i of this edition). Page numbers below to the right are keyed to the numbers used in this edition, found at the bottom of pages.

Translator's Note by Cornelia Brookfield ... {v}	vii
Preface by H. N. Kubali ... {ix}	ix
Introduction by Georges Davy ... {xiii}	xiii
I. Professional Ethics...{1}	1
II. Professional Ethics (Continued) ... {14}	11
III. Professional Ethics (End) ... {28}	23
IV. Civic Morals—Definition of the State ... {42}	35
V. Civic Morals (Continued)—Relation of the State and the Individual ... {55}	47
VI. Civic Morals (Continued)—The State and the Individual—Patriotism ... {65}	55
VII. Civic Morals (Continued)—Form of the State—Democracy ... {76}	65
VIII. Civic Morals (Continued)—Form of the State—Democracy ... {85}	73
IX. Civic Morals (End)—Form of the State—Democracy ... {98}	83
X. Duties in General, Independent of any Social Grouping—Homicide ... {110}	93
XI. The Rule Prohibiting Attacks on Property ... {121}	103
XII. The Right of Property (Continued) ... {133}	113
XIII. The Right of Property (Continued) ... {145}	123
XIV. The Right of Property (Continued) ... {159}	135
XV. The Right of Contract ... {171}	145
XVI. Morals of Contractual Relations (Continued) ... {184}	155
XVII. The Right of Contract (End) ... {196}	165
XVIII. Morals of Contractual Relations (End) ... {208}	175
Index ... {221}	187