

Perspectives on Research Assessment in Architecture, Music and the Arts

Discussing Doctorateness

Edited by Fredrik Nilsson, Halina Dunin-Woyseth
and Nel Janssens

R Routledge
Taylor & Francis Group

LONDON AND NEW YORK

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Editorial: the art of assessment – focusing research assessment from different perspectives	ix
HALINA DUNIN-WOYSETH, NEL JANSSENS & FREDRIK NILSSON
List of contributors	xxi
SECTION 1
Framing 'doctorateness'	1
1 Doctorateness: where should we look for evidence? MICHAEL BIGGS	3
2 Emerging epistemic communities and cultures of evidence: on the practice of assessment of research in the creative fields HALINA DUNIN-WOYSETH & FREDRIK NILSSON	15
3 Setting the scene: the development of formal frameworks for doctorates in Europe ANNE SOLBERG	33
SECTION 2
Various experiences, cases and concerns	49
4 Criteria for 'doctorateness' in the creative fields: a focus on architecture OYA ATALAY FRANCK	51

vi	Contents
5	Preserving openness in design research in architecture MURRAY FRASER	69
6	Design practice research in architecture and design at RMIT University: discovery, reflection and assessment COLIN FUDGE & ADRIANA PARTAL	85
7	Doctoral scholarship in popular music performance TOR DYBO	101
8	Exploring, enhancing and evaluating musical 'doctorateness': perspectives on performance and composition KAREN BURLAND, MICHAEL SPENCER & LUKE WINDSOR	114
9	Constructing publics as a key to doctoral research: a discussion of two PhD projects engaging in societal issues with artistic and design-based methods LIESBETH HUYBRECHTS & MARIJN VAN DE WEIJER	129
	SECTION 3
	Doctorateness to come?	145
10	Non-observational research: a possible future route for knowledge acquisition in architecture and the arts NEL JANSSENS & GERARD DE ZEEUW	147
11	When will it thunder? ROLF HUGHES	159
12	Precision: the compositional accuracy of artistic judgement CATHARINA DYRSSEN	175
	Index	190