

Entrepreneurship Education: A Selective Examination of the Literature

Rui Baptista

Brunel Business School,
Brunel University London,
United Kingdom
and

CEG-IST, Instituto Superior Técnico,
Universidade de Lisboa, Portugal
rui.baptista@tecnico.ulisboa.pt

Ana Naia

CIAUD
(Research Centre for Architecture, Urbanism and Design)
Universidade de Lisboa, Portugal
anaia@fmh.ulisboa.pt.

now

the essence of knowledge

Boston · Delft

Contents

1	Introduction	3
2	Entrepreneurship and Entrepreneurship Education: Origins and Evolution	7
2.1	Entrepreneurship as a process	7
2.2	Entrepreneurial traits, skills, and contextual factors	10
2.3	The concept of entrepreneurship education	10
2.4	The evolution of the field before 2000	13
2.5	Discussion	22
3	Entrepreneurship Education Literature in the 2000s: Methodology	23
4	Entrepreneurship Education Literature in the 2000s: Theoretical Contributions	29
4.1	Elements for an examination of theoretical contributions: Taxonomy and assessment	31
4.2	Taxonomy application	34
4.3	Content assessment	48
4.4	Discussion	49

5	Entrepreneurship Education Literature in the 2000s: Challenges and Emerging Solutions in the Entrepreneurial Classroom	53
5.1	Framework of analysis	54
5.2	Analysis	57
5.3	How Different Journals Focus on the Framework's Dimensions	68
5.4	Discussion	68
6	Concluding Remarks	75
	Acknowledgements	81
	References	83