

Woven Arch Bridge

Histories of Constructional Thoughts

Liu Yan

Contents

List of figures	x
Introduction	1
PART I
Woven arch bridges: three stories	7
1 From Caesar to Da Vinci: the woven structure's Italian root	9
1.1 Glory to Caesar!	9
1.2 Leonardo da Vinci, the genius mind	24
2 A full moon in another land: the Moon Bridge in the Japanese Garden of the Huntington Library	46
2.1 A Japanese landscape in California	46
2.2 Toichiro Kawai, the Japanese carpenter	51
2.3 The Moon Bridge: the art of construction	54
2.4 The Moon Bridge: construction secrets	64
2.5 Reconstruction of an unwritten history	72
2.6 Conclusions: curriculum vitae of the Huntington Moon Bridge	87
3 Searching for the Chinese wooden arch bridges	89
3.1 Discovery of the Chinese wooden arch bridges: from the Rainbow Bridge to the Min-Zhe area bridges	89
3.2 Rainbow Bridge re-observed through the lens of the MZ bridges	98
3.3 The origin of the MZ bridges	110
3.4 Wooden arch bridges: the dedication of two generations of Chinese scholars	116

PART II
Woven arch bridges in Southeast China	121
Introduction to Part II	123
II.1 Rules of terminology and abbreviation of the structural members	124
II.2 General building process of a typical MZ bridge	126
II.3 Basic information of the research	126
4 Building a woven arch bridge: local knowledge	132
4.1 Organization and preparation	132
4.2 Material and tools	138
4.3 Design of the woven arch and the production of its building members	153
4.4 Processing the wooden arch elements	173
4.5 Erection of the wooden arch	182
4.6 Constructional perspective of the bridge carpenters	219
4.7 A short summary of the mechanical features of the MZ bridges	230
5 The Rulong Bridge: a detective story	232
5.1 The dragon-like bridge	232
5.2 The measured drawings	238
5.3 Solving the jigsaw puzzle	245
5.4 Conclusions	257
6 Technique and craftsmen: pedigree of the bridge carpenters and the diffusions of the technique	260
6.1 Our sources of information about the bridge carpenter families	260
6.2 Stories of the bridge carpenter families	265
6.3 Construction features and technical evolution	294
6.4 Marginal variant: atypical MZ bridges	314
6.5 Technique inheritance and dissemination	326
PART III
Conclusion	337
7 Rethinking the histories of woven arch bridges	339
7.1 Universal uniqueness	339
7.2 Typology of the woven arch structures	340
7.3 From idea to technique	353

7.4 Structural thoughts: dealing with the challenge of the span in different cultures 357

7.5 Seed, soil, growing environment 366

Afterword	374
Acknowledgements	378
List of referred historical MZ bridges	381
Index	385