

Top Management Team Incentives and Paradox

Djordje Zivkovic

180340

Doctoral thesis

to obtain the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Business Economics

University of Liechtenstein

Graduate School

PhD program: Business Economics

Supervisor: Prof. Dr. Alexander Zimmermann

Co-Supervisor: Prof. Dr. Markus Menz

Date of submission: 04/04/2023

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements..... i

Abstract..... iii

1 Introduction..... 1

 1.1 Background..... 1

 1.2 Theoretical Motivation: Incentives and Paradox Literature..... 1

 1.3 Dissertation Structure and Overview 2

 1.3.1 Overview of the Dissertation Studies 3

 1.3.2 Overview of the Data and Methodology Used 4

 1.4 Publication Strategy..... 6

2 Non-Financial Performance Metrics (NFPM) in Executives’ Compensation..... 7

 2.1 Introduction..... 8

 2.2 Literature Streams Related to NFPM..... 8

 2.3 Methodology and Scope of Review 10

 2.4 A Review of the Use of NFPM in Executive Compensation..... 12

 2.4.1 Research on the Nature of NFPM..... 12

 2.4.2 Research on Boards’ and Executives’ Perspectives on NFPM..... 13

 2.4.3 Research on Boundary Conditions for NFPM..... 15

 2.4.4 Research on Outcomes of NFPM 15

 2.5 Overall Synthesis and Directions for Future Research 16

 2.5.1 From Aggregation to Differentiation..... 18

 2.5.2 From Isolation to Interrelation..... 19

 2.5.3 From Individual Interest to Board-Executive Consensus..... 19

 2.5.4 From Equifinality to Contingency..... 20

 2.5.5 From Short-Term to Long-Term 21

 2.6 Conclusion 21

3 What Do We (Not) Know About Paradoxical Leadership (PL)..... 23

 3.1 Introduction..... 24

 3.2 Methodology and Scope of Review 24

 3.3 Reflections on Paradoxical Leadership Research 26

 3.3.1 Individual-Level PL..... 26

 3.3.2 Organizational-Level PL 28

 3.3.3 Outcomes of PL..... 30

3.3.4	Boundary Conditions in PL Research.....	31
3.4	Directions for Future PL Research.....	32
3.4.1	Drivers of Individual-Level PL	32
3.4.2	Direct Outcomes of Individual-Level PL	33
3.4.3	Interplay of Individual- and Organizational-Level PL	34
3.4.4	Outcomes of Organizational-Level PL.....	35
3.4.5	The Individual and Organizational View and Outcomes.....	36
3.5	Conclusion	36
4	CEO and TMT Incentive Heterogeneity and Organizational Ambidexterity	37
4.1	Introduction.....	38
4.2	Theoretical Background and Hypothesis Development.....	39
4.2.1	Organizational Ambidexterity	39
4.2.2	Antecedents of Organizational Ambidexterity	40
4.2.3	Incentives and Organizational Ambidexterity	40
4.3	Methodology	44
4.3.1	Sample	44
4.3.2	Measures.....	44
4.3.3	Model Specification.....	46
4.4	Results.....	47
4.5	Discussion and Conclusion	51
4.5.1	Limitations and Future Research.....	53
4.5.2	Conclusion.....	53
5	The Distinctive Effects of ESG Incentives on ESG Performance	55
5.1	Introduction.....	56
5.2	Theoretical Background and Hypothesis Development.....	57
5.2.1	ESG Incentives and Performance Implications	58
5.2.2	Corresponding Performance Effects.....	58
5.2.3	Crossover Performance Effects	60
5.3	Methods	61
5.3.1	Setting and Data Collection.....	61
5.3.2	Measurement	61
5.4	Results.....	63
5.5	Discussion and Conclusion.....	64

5.5.1	Limitations and Future Research.....	66
5.5.2	Conclusion.....	66
6	Overall Discussion and Conclusion.....	67
6.1	Theoretical Contributions	67
6.1.1	Reviewing the Management of Paradoxes	67
6.1.2	Adapting an NFPM and FPM Balance	68
6.1.3	Team Incentives and Incentive Heterogeneity for Managing Paradoxes	69
6.2	Managerial Implications	70
6.2.1	Defining the Range of Incentives to Embrace Paradoxes.....	70
6.2.2	Implementing Incentives to Address Paradoxes.....	70
6.3	Limitations and Future Research	71
6.4	Overall Conclusion	72
	References.....	73
	List of Figures.....	93
	List of Tables.....	95
	List of Abbreviations.....	97
	Appendix	99
	Declaration of Authorship	117
	Curriculum Vitae	119